

The Republican party is making a desperate effort to overcome the Democratic majority in the House of Representatives. In this they will hardly succeed. The Democrats, however, should labor earnestly to gain as many Congressmen as possible. In this district we have a splendid chance to gain one member, and will do so if every member of the party will work from now on and get out a full vote.

There, not one valid, sound public reason, why any man in the district who considers himself a Democrat, and wishes to be so regarded by others, should vote against Judge Wall, nor one why such a man should fail to vote for him. There are many reasons why Republicans in Mason County who have known him well and wish to have at Washington a Representative who will be decent and sober in his personal conduct, and prompt and industrious in attending to all the practical business needs of his constituents of all parties, honest and above all suspicion of corruption, shall give him friendly support, as a fellow county man. Let us roll up a good majority for him at his own home.—Eagle.

The uncut tobacco in parts of Kenton County was so seriously damaged by the recent frosts as to make it entirely worthless, and it will be abandoned, says the Covington Commonwealth. Similar reports come from other sections of the State. The greater part of the crop, however, had been housed and escaped any damage.

LOVENS of the beautiful were delighted last evening by the blooming of a crucis grandiflora, a night-dwelling cactus, at the home of Mr. Walker, the popular florist, of Forest avenue. Quite a number of his friends witnessed the unfolding of seven of the beautiful, waxy buds. Several more are expected to bloom this evening, and the sight will well repay a visit.

The announcement of City Marshal James Hefflin as a candidate for re-election next January appears in this issue. He has given entire satisfaction in the discharge of his duties the past year and has made a most excellent official. GAS EXPLOSION.

A Shocking Accident Caused by an Explosion of Hydrogen Gas. LAWISTON, Mo., Oct. 7.—A most shocking accident occurred at the residence of the Rev. Dr. T. W. Turt, pastor of the Pine street Free Will Baptist church. Dr. Turt had prepared a quantity of hydrogen gas for use in a magic lantern entertainment, for the amusement of his four young daughters. Suddenly the gas exploded. All were in the room at the time, and the explosion was against the furniture, and two of them through a door.

The room was destroyed, the plastering being torn from the walls and ceilings, and windows and plants were thrown twenty feet from the house. The stove was overturned, the furniture was scattered, and the door shattered. The doctor received severe bruises about the head and face. One of the girls had her hearing destroyed, another a leg broken, and the two remaining had arms broken. Medical aid came at once. It is feared that some of the children are injured so seriously that they will die.

General Sherman's Experience in Ireland. NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—At the meeting of the Loyal League at Delmonico's, Gen. Horace Porter talked about military reminiscences, among them "marching through Georgia" was sung, and the whole assembly stood and looked toward Gen. Sherman, who, when the song was over, said: "I am somewhat of a rover. I marched through Georgia as you say, but I rode over the same ground as a lieutenant in 1843, and knew it well in 1861. Whenever I go it doesn't seem to make any difference. I have been there, and I have seen it. When I was stopping at a hotel in Dublin, opposite Green Park one day I sat down to write, when suddenly I heard music. As I approached I recognized the same old tune. I rigged out in uniform and went down to receive them. They had passed on. When I asked the hotel proprietor who they were, and what time they were playing, he replied: 'Some of the boys playing one of the old Irish tunes.'"

The cattle were not only killed but the sheds were burned. The department has also asked the United States to send a qualified veterinary surgeon to remain permanently or for several months at Quebec in order to observe the effectiveness of the precautions adopted.

Nearing the End in Webster's Trial.

WARRICK, Ind., Oct. 7.—J. P. Ficks, a machinist, working in Dayton, gave the sensational evidence of the day in the Webster case. He related that three months ago he came to a church service at that town at 9 o'clock on the night of Perry Harrison's murder. A young man dressed quite like Webster came in and sat down at the front of the church. He was dressed in a suit like the prisoner, and that a genuine assassin was present. The testimony is about all in.

Local Legion in New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—The dinner of the Loyal Legion last night, Gen. Mollathau presided, and ex-President Hayes sat at his right hand. Short speeches, mostly of a congratulatory character, were made by Mr. Hayes, Gen. Sherman and Gen. Horace Porter. At the close of the dinner very handsomely engraved resolutions on the death of Gen. Hayes were exhibited.

Running a Religious Daily.

Mr. John Dougall, who recently died in Flushing, was the founder of the first penny paper in Canada, the Montreal Daily Witness. The paper is unique in its kind, being a daily religious paper. Mr. Dougall tried to repeat the experiment in this city, but it proved a failure. He was a religious man, and with a value filled with good became a sort of peddler. He was pragmatic and went into the book business and became editor of a temperance paper.

When he was subject to me he said: "I long cherished the idea of starting a weekly paper, giving the news and also being devoted to the spiritual wants of the people—that is, a religious paper. I began it in Montreal in 1845 with a circulation of 800. I was told by nearly every person that a daily paper would not succeed. I hesitated to begin the daily until 1849, when the Prince of Wales visited Canada. I could not get any boys to sell it at first. I finally succeeded, and the sales ran up to several thousand daily, an unheard of thing in Montreal." About sixteen years ago Mr. Dougall came here to try and get the religious weeklies to start a daily edition. They refused, and he finally started one himself, but, like The World when run as a religious daily, it proved a failure. He was a religious man, and with a value filled with good became a sort of peddler. He was pragmatic and went into the book business and became editor of a temperance paper.

Owned by Foreign Landlords.

The American citizen would like to consider a few facts in the case. There are now 30,647 acres of land in the United States owned by twenty-nine foreign landholders and foreign syndicates. The amount of land thus owned is as large as Ireland. Indeed, one Irish landlord is said to own $400,000 annual income in rack rents from his estate in Illinois. One English gentleman in London owns 700,000 acres of American land. The census of 1880 showed that there were 1,000,000 tenant farmers in the United States. That number must have increased considerably in six years, and at the present time our American "peasantry" probably outnumber those of Great Britain and Ireland combined. At any rate there are in Ireland to-day only 547,282 tenant holdings; in England and Wales together 414,804, and in all Scotland 101,161. The state of Illinois alone has 20,000 more tenant farmers than Scotland. France has to-day 5,000,000 acres of land, proprietors and 2,000,000 large proprietors and owners of real estate in towns. Altogether, both great and small, there are 100,000,000 of land proprietors in the United States is not quite 8,000,000, and yet we have a greater population than France by 15,000,000 and many times as much land as that country. Professor Herbert B. Adams in Chicago Times.

Saved His Life.

Mr. D. I. Whitson, of Horse Cave, Ky., says he was, for many years, badly afflicted with phthisis, also diabetes; the pains were most unendurable and would sometimes almost throw him into a convulsion. He tried Electric Bitters and got relief from that bottle and after taking six bottles, he was entirely cured, and had gained in flesh eighteen pounds.

Says he positively believes he owes his recovery to the Electric Bitters. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by J. C. Pacor & Co., and S. P. Campbell & Co., of Aberdeen Ohio.

Don't Experiment.

You cannot afford to waste time in experimenting when your lungs are in danger. Consumption always seems, at first, only a cold. Do not permit any dealer to impose upon you with some cheap imitation of King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, but be sure you get the genuine. Because he can make more profit he may tell you to buy something that is good or just the same. Don't be deceived, but insist upon getting Dr. King's New Discovery, which is guaranteed to give relief in all throat and chest affections. Trial bottle free at the drug stores of J. C. Pacor & Co., and S. P. Campbell & Co., of Aberdeen Ohio.

Awfully Hot.

Washington Post.

"Say, Carlton, who is that awfully hoarsely at the end of the piano?"

"That?—that's my cousin."

"No, no, Carlton, I mean at the other end of the piano."

"No! I know that is your sister there; but I mean the frowny old thing back of her."

"Ah! back of her? Directly back? Ivory fair? White feathers in her hair?"

"Yes; yes; that one."

"Looking like a war?"

"Yes; you tumble! That's the one!"

"That's my mother."

"Don't it strike you it's awful hot here this evening, Mr. Carlton?"

Wides symptoms of malaria appear in any form, take Ayer's Ague cure at once to prevent the development of the disease, and continue until the fever is restored, as it surely will be by the use of this remedy. A cure is warranted in every instance.

OLD WORLD DISPATCHES.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE OF A MAN ON A VISIT TO THE ALPS.

A Belief That He Was Murdered and Thrown into the Rhine—Comments on Churchill's Bulgarian Situation.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—One of the chief topics of conversation in English and American society on the continent for two months past has been the mysterious disappearance of Arthur Molyneux, a young man of fortune and family. So many wild versions of the story are afloat that it was with some difficulty that Mr. Gaye, one of the followers of Orell College, Oxford, who proves to have been Mr. Molyneux's companion on the trip, was finally traced. In an interview with Mr. Gaye at his splendid mansion in Ealing, Middlesex, the United Press correspondent learned that Mr. Molyneux belongs to an ancient Lancashire family, is quite wealthy, about thirty years of age and muscular.

Mr. Gaye and Mr. Molyneux toured together for a month in the Alpine country. Starting homeward they reached Basel on the morning of August 3, intending to start for Calais by the 9:30 p. m. train. Having considerable time on their hands they strolled about town, took dinner and then went down to the crowded station platform. At 7:30 p. m. Molyneux suddenly vanished and has not been seen since. He could not have departed by the train as Mr. Gaye had his ticket, the brasses for his luggage, and the bulk of his money. The station predicts were thoroughly searched and the police scoured the town for a trace of the missing man, without avail.

Mr. Gaye and other friends of Molyneux's spent much time in endeavoring to find some clue as to his whereabouts. Detectives searched the continent over, advertisements were inserted in all the principal newspapers, station bulletin boards, hotels and public houses were filled with portraits of the missing man, and large rewards were offered for any information leading to his discovery. The case curiously resembles the disappearance of Mr. Arthur Rowley.

Mr. Molyneux's position would have secured him prompt assistance at any foreign office or any of the British consular stations. The banks of the Rhine have been examined for miles without success, and every story of his having been seen here and there thoroughly sifted and proven to be groundless.

The Swiss police cling to the theory they first formed, that woman deceived him from the station platform into town where confederates robbed and murdered him, throwing the body into the Rhine, and the current carrying it many miles toward the sea before the search was commenced.

Churchill's Policy.—The Journal de St. Petersburg, commenting on Lord Churchill's speech of Saturday last, setting forth the policy of the Conservatives, says that it will doubtless encourage the British public, and the House of Commons, in English solidarity for oppressed people is only an article for export, it will be of advantage to Europe. Lord Churchill's distinction between peaceable and aggressive powers is very original. What power years ago provoked revolution and war in the Balkans? Which power stirred the general conflagration? England having now resolved to maintain the entente cordiale, and to settle all international disputes, the Journal hopes she will second Russia's efforts in Bulgaria for the same object at this critical moment.

The Journal points to the bad condition of affairs in Bulgaria and declares that Russia's sole object is to preserve Bulgaria and allow the excited passions of the time to subside, when she will give the people a chance to breathe freely, in their mature judgment, delegates who will make known their country's true wishes. Since this work of pacification responds to the wishes of all interests except the dictators, who have seized and wish to retain power, the Journal considers Lord Randolph Churchill's co-operation assured, and sincerely rejoices at it.
